General Comments: She wants to get admitted in a college right now. Until now, she doesnot know whether she will be able to get admitted in the college because of her father's poverty.

Essay writing: She wrote something about herself:

In my childhood, every body used to ask me about my aim in life. In response, I used to tell them, "I want to be a doctor". My recently published SSC result made my childhood dream on the way to be successful. Now, I want to get admitted in a college named Jessore Cantonment College. But, what I see is that my fathers income is too low to support my study.

Dr. A.P.J Abdul Kalam, the 11th President of India, told that "Dream is not what you see when you sleep...It's the thing which does not let you sleep". It seems to me that this saying is perfect for me. I cant sleep right now because of thinking whether I will be able to continue my education.

Without aim in life none can be able to touch his goal. I strongly agree with this opinion. Living such a poor country, I have an aim of my future life that I will become a doctor and thus I will help the poor. If I get any financial help, it will help me very much as a supporter and my dream will become true. Moreover, it will give me courage to go ahead.
